This is because the health faucets may not have gone through stringent tests which ensure good performance and hence will be of bad quality. A superior quality health faucet can operate without bursting upto 34.5 Bar of pressure (For comparison, Normal household water pressure is about 2 Bar) A good health faucet should also be capable of operating without any leakage for 100,000 cycles of operation, equivalent to 25 years of use It is important to check if the health faucet you are buying has been tested to the above standards for bursts and leakages.
